Faithful Citizenship

Forming Our Conscience to Vote with Faith

"It is in the faithful fulfilment of duty — to God and country — that Catholics are called to continue to serve the nation, as leaven for the growth of a civilization of love (cf. Mt 13:33)."

- Pope Leo XIV

Role of the Faithful Citizen in Political Life

We are responsible for learning more about Catholic teachings and traditions and seeking trustworthy sources about the issues facing our communities. By turning to God in prayer and forming our consciences before we carry out our civic duty to vote, we can better pursue the common good and thus obey the command of our Lord to love our neighbors.[1]

Bringing Our Faith to Public Policy

Faithful citizenship guides Catholics and others of goodwill to promote the common good, where all in society may thrive and reach their God-given potential. To place our faith above partisan and political criteria is to acknowledge that faith, not a political party or candidate, is at the heart of developing our conscience.

The first step is living a life rooted in prayer, scripture, sacraments and study. Ahead of researching candidates and learning the issues, consider the following:

- Prayer: How often do I pray? How might the Lord be calling me to deepen my prayer life with Him?
- Scripture: How often do I pray with or read Sacred Scripture? How might the Lord be calling me to spend more time with His Word?
- Sacraments: How often do I frequent the Sacraments? How might the Lord be calling me to encounter Him more often in the Sacraments, particularly in Holy Communion and Confession?
- Study: In what ways do I seek to grow in my understanding of the Catholic faith and what I profess to believe? How might the Lord be calling me to deepen my understanding of the faith, and in what ways can I do that?

CATHOLIC CONFERENCE OF OHIO

From Conscience to Concrete Action

Forming our conscience includes understanding and embracing the Church's social doctrine. Catholic social teaching offers a refreshing, hope-filled perspective on current affairs because it is rooted in Scripture and articulated through Church Tradition. Catholics can examine current public policy issues through the lens of Church teaching rather than partisan stances.

- Uphold the Dignity of Human Life
- Support Catholic Schools, Students, & Parents
- Protect the Poor & Vulnerable
- Promote Marriage & Family Life
- Advocate for Affordable & Accessible Health Care
- Protect Religious Liberty
- Care for the Environment

Catholic voters should evaluate the extent to which candidates hold a position on these principles and public policy themes, particularly the dignity of all human life.

Being "Media Mindful" in Evaluations

Being "media mindful" means constantly asking questions of information. As you evaluate issues and candidates prior to voting, ask yourself:

- Is this information complete or could it lack important context?
- Is there more information I need to make an informed decision on this issue or candidate?
- Does the content align with issues the Church is calling Catholics to be attentive to?
- Does this political content respect human dignity and other people?

No single source will provide a complete—or even the most accurate—picture of a candidate's qualifications and positions. You may wish to check a candidate's website, voting records, campaign finance records, social media accounts, and local news sources.

What will Ohioans be voting on in the 2026 election?

Federal:

- One of two U.S. Senate seats
- All 15 Ohio seats in the U.S. House of Representatives

State:

- Issue 3: Constitutional amendment on Voter IDs
- Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Treasurer, and Auditor
- 17 of 33 Ohio Senate seats
- All 99 Ohio House of Representatives seats
- Two of seven seats on the Ohio Supreme Court

Local:

- County and municipal government positions
- Judicial seats for regional and local courts
- Board members for local school districts
- Local ballot issues

St. Francis and Contemporary Questions in Death, Dying, and Human Dignity

St. Francis joyfully embraced "Sister Death," calling her "the gate of Life." In honor of the 800th anniversary of his passing into eternal life, this conference explores St. Francis' legacy and the Christian understanding of death.

Come celebrate the Jubilee Year of St. Francis while also learning how to faithfully navigate the most pressing end-of-life topics today, such as:

- Ethics of emerging technologies
- Euthanasia
- Physician-assisted suicide
- Palliative and hospice care
- Accompaniment of the suffering

The Colonel's Chronicle

A Black Warrior's Memoir or Faith, Service and Dignity

By Lieutenant Colonel John C. Scott

Edited by Jeff King

Long-time parishioners will remember Colonel Scott as a regular daily mass attendee. He used to lead the Rosary before Mass and he helped with RCIA.

He's 85 years old now and lives at the Wyngate home in Weirton. He is not as active as he used to be, but he still retains the old wit and charm that he always had and loves telling stories from his life. I've been visiting with him at least once a week for a couple years and have heard so many of them that we started recording and transcribing them and eventually arranged them into this memoir.

Colonel Scott will be here at St. Peter's on November 1st and wants to meet new parishioners and greet old ones. In addition, you will have an opportunity to get his book and perhaps have him sign it for you.

What follows is the official synopsis. Enjoy, Jeff King.

Composed from transcribed interviews conducted in 2025 and 2026, The Colonel's Chronicle is the extraordinary life story of Colonel Scott, a Black Catholic American whose journey spans from the Jim Crow South to the highest levels of military aviation, corporate leadership, and quiet spiritual service. Born in 1941, Scott's family joined the Great Migration from South Carolina to North Philadelphia so his father could work in the wartime defense industry. A Jesuit scholarship took him to St. Joseph's University; restlessness then led him to Chicago and, ultimately, the United States Air Force. Commissioned as a navigator in 1964, he rose to pilot, chose the C-130 over fighters to support his new family (an older wife and her three children he adopted as his own), and flew some of the most demanding missions of the Vietnam era—including the clandestine Blind Bat pathfinder flights over the Ho Chi Minh Trail. After the war he balanced Air Force Reserve duty with a labor-management career at Campbell Soup Company, earned a law degree from Temple, passed the New Jersey, and Pennsylvania bars, and moved into the C-suite as a vice president at International Silver and Copytone Visual Communications, Inc. For a decade he also led a prison ministry team alongside Divine Word priests. This is not merely a military or corporate success story. It is the rare, unvarnished account of a Black man navigating institutional racism, family responsibility, Catholic faith, and personal ambition while rising—quietly and steadily—to the top of two of America's most demanding worlds.
